Mickey Cohen Is Named Front Man For Vice Lords

Vigilantes Committee Is Determined to Find Out, Then Name Them Publicly

Los Angeles, Aug. 24 (AP)—Mickey (The Mouse) Cohen will have more than the cops to contend with soon.

A new vigilantes committee yesterday charged:

"Mickey Cohen is merely a 'Mickey Mouse' front man for the real vice overlords. We are determined to find out who these vice lords are and name them publicly."

Then it announced it would immediately open an investigation bureau to sift information from private citizens on crime and vice conditions in Los Angeles, and turn the facts over to state and federal authorities.

The vigilantes, organized recently by a veterans group, called a mass meeting for tonight and invited local, state and federal law enforcement officers to attend.

Cohen, who has been willing enough in the past to talk with newsmen, yesterday declined to do so with District Attorney William Simpson. Simpson had said he wanted to ask the little gambler about reports that Cohen had paid $20,000 for a copy of the transcript which police, using hidden microphones, made of conversations in his home.

Refused, Simpson said he is interested in seeing if police officers who operated the listening post "can provide enough sworn testimony to make a case against Cohen."

These officers currently are being questioned by Simpson.

The man who hung the "Mickey Mouse" tag on Cohen is Attorney Caryl Chessman, chairman of the vigilantes committee. Chessman said he has received numerous calls from "angry citizens who have legitimate information to give but don't know to whom to give it because they have lost confidence in constituted authority."

Meanwhile, police last night arrested Mike Howard, 55, Cohen's top lieutenant. Police said they found a revolver in his house and another one in the cafe he operates for Cohen.

Quick Escapes, One Dies in Car Crash

Granville Quick, 23, of Ann street, this city, escaped uninjured in an accident resulting in one death on the Glenn Falls-Saratoga road today, the Associated Press reported.

Chester A. Hatch, 30, of Boston, Mass., was killed, the report said, when the automobile he was driving and a truck, driven by Quick, collided.

Hatch's companion, Mario Garcia, 20, of Washington, D. C., was injured, the report said.

G.O.P. Head Is Ill

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Guy Gabrielsen, Republican national chairman, is suffering a virus infection of the throat and ears, his office reported today. He is expected to be at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Gabrielsen canceled a scheduled broadcast tonight at the Republican State Committee's School of Politics at Hamilton College.

Baseball Betting Syndicate Raided; $30,000 Seized

Boston, Aug. 24 (AP)—The police racket squad snared two men last night in a raid on what authorities described as a nest of "a well organized country-wide syndicate" handling big bets on major league baseball games.

The squad seized slips representing $30,000 on wagers on yesterday's games and other equipment.

The men were booked as Louis V. Sherman, 34, and Elliott P. Price, 29, both of Boston.

The raid followed by a few days a disclosure by the New York Post that $33,000,000 was wagered daily on big league baseball with a total of more than $3,000,000, 300 a season.

Notebooks containing telephone numbers in cities throughout the country and charts giving odds on all starting pitchers were found in the apartment.

Sgt. Leo Cannon said the odds book showed the syndicate was offering $1,500 to $1,000 that Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves would beat the Pittsburgh Pirates in last night's game. Sain won, 5-2.

Data found in the three-room apartment included telephone numbers in Chicago, New York City, Brooklyn, Manchester, N. H., Andover, Mass., Worcester, Mass., Wayne, Ind., Superior, Wis., Saratoga, N. Y., Cleveland, Cincinnati, and some Maine cities.

Historic Atlantic Treaty Was Made Effective Today

Twelve Nations Pledge to Strike Back if Any One of Them Is Attacked

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—The historic Atlantic Treaty, allying the United States with 11 other nations in defense of the west, went into effect today at a White House ceremony.

From this day onward the 12 nations, having formed their alliance under the threat of Russian aggression, formally pledge to strike back in case of an attack against any one of them.

Formal notice by the French Government that it had ratified the treaty provided the occasion for the White House gathering. Invited to attend were top ranking American officials and representatives of the 11 other nations which signed the treaty here last April 4.

Already representatives of these 12 nations are at work at the State Department planning for the first meeting of the Council of the Atlantic Alliance. That meeting probably will be convened in Washington about the middle of next month.

Ambassador Henri Bonnet of France was called on to deposit the French notice of ratification with the White House as the first step in today's ceremony. That action, as provided in the treaty itself, automatically brings the pact into force.

The second step, White House officials said, would be the issuance of a proclamation by Mr. Truman declaring that the treaty was effective. Such a proclamation would formally bring to an end a century and a half of American policy of steering clear of European alliances.

Diplomatic officials also arranged to receive the ratifications of Italy, Portugal and Denmark. Those deposits, however, were not necessary to make the treaty legally binding.

The effective date for the alliance was worked out in this way: The United States, Canada, Britain, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg made up the group of seven countries which began negotiating the pact July 6, 1948 and substantially completed it early this year. The treaty itself provided that it should come into force when all seven had ratified it and France is the last of the seven to take that action.

The total membership of the alliance was raised to 12 in March of this year when five other nations in the western European Atlantic area accepted invitations to join. These five were Norway, Finland, Portugal, Iceland and Denmark.

Clark and McGrath Take Oaths of Office

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—The nation gets a new Supreme Court justice and a new attorney general today.

The White House was the scene for the swearing in (2 p. m. E.S.T.) of Tom C. Clark, the smiling Texas lawyer who has been attorney general for the last four years, as Justice of the Supreme Court.

President Truman headed the list of official witnesses.

The great hall of the Department of Justice was shined up for another ceremony one hour later. This one was to give the oath of office as attorney general to E. A. Tamm, Jr., who goes to the U. S. district attorney in Rhode Island, former governor of the state, former solicitor general of the United States and more recently U. S. senator and chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Clark, just one month short of his 60th birthday, goes to the court as its youngest member. He will take the seat left vacant by the death of Justice Frank Murphy.

McGrath, at 45, becomes the 60th attorney general.

Tito Offers to Negotiate 'All Disputed Questions'

By ALEX SINGLETON
Belgrade, Aug. 24 (AP)—Marshal Tito's offer to negotiate "all disputed questions" between Yugoslavia and Russia has put the possibility of easing tension in the explosive Balkans squarely up to the Soviet Union.

But, among foreign observers here, there seemed little likelihood Russia will accept the Yugoslav bid for an across the table settlement of the Communist family row.

Bitterness of the feud apparently has gone too far. It has been marked by border shootings between Yugoslavia and Soviet-controlled Communist neighbors, charges and counter-charges of espionage and sabotage.

Perhaps more important, the depth of the rift has been reflected on both sides by demands that the other must change its basic political philosophy of what constitutes a Communist state.

At Inquiry

Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, suspended Army Quartermaster General, appears, August 23, before the Senate investigating committee in Washington. He acknowledged that he gave James V. Hunt information on Army buying plans in 1947 but declared it was not confidential and he did not know of "Hunt's position as a so-called five percent."

Railroad Manager Says Freight Shift Will Help Shippers

Tells C. of C. Central Has Heavy Expenses Now; Employees to Get Jobs Sept. 1

Four representatives of the New York Central Lines, including General Manager F. B. Hank, conferred with Kingston Chamber of Commerce officials on Tuesday regarding the recent protests against the discontinuance of all L.C.L. freight transfer operations here.

Hank stated that the war-time transfer operations were an emergency arrangement and that reductions in freight revenue made it absolutely necessary to curtail expenses and consolidate activities. He was of the opinion that the change would actually improve the service on freight shipments from distant points.

Hank also stated that a large percentage, perhaps up to 75 per cent, of the men laid off will find railroad jobs by or soon after September 1, when the five-day week for employees goes into effect.

Charles Fleming, division superintendent, stated that the complaint about shipments from Kingston, to points on the Catskill Mountain Branch, having to go to Utica first for transfer, brought immediate action and this service has already been improved.

As a result of the conference, representatives of the railroad will contact those persons who have made written or verbal complaints, and discuss the situation with them.

Hank continued that "rail freight rates were already high for competitive purposes and that increased rates would only increase the cost of doing business for shippers."

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce would appreciate suggestions for ways to cut freight, particularly for car loads, to how the entire situation might be improved for the mutual benefit of all concerned. Other railroad representatives at the conference were J. A. Simpson, local freight agent, and S. J. Keating, local trainmaster.

Girl, 3, Admitted To Hospital; Is 31st Polio Case

The county health department today reported the 31st case of polio, a three-year-old girl who was admitted to Kingston Hospital yesterday afternoon.

Listed as "resident" the latest case brings the total to 12 county residents victims. Most of the other victims were visitors in the area from New York and vicinity.

Two of the 31 cases were from Sullivan county and one from Greene county brought here for hospitalization.

Five cases are now undergoing treatment at Kingston Hospital and the report on all today was favorable.

Highland Man Held On Morals Charge Here

Graham Bilyou, 58, of Highland was arrested at that place yesterday afternoon by Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum on a warrant listing a "morals charge."

Bilyou was represented by Attorney R. A. Lent, of Highland, when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and hearing was set for August 31. He was admitted to $500 bail.

Information in the complaint said the alleged act of "impairing the morals of a minor" was committed in this city and involved a 10-year-old girl.

Clintondale Boy Fatally Injured In Motorbike Crash

Wesley W. Harris, 16, Is Victim of Accident as Cycle Leaves Route 32

Wesley W. Harris, Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley W. Harris of Clintondale was instantly killed last evening about 10:30 o'clock when his motor bike left Route 32 near the DuBois cooler just outside New Paltz and after running through a ditch struck a tree.

Young Harris died instantly from a fractured skull.

Harris was operating a Whizzer 1948 motor bike, southerly from New Paltz toward his home at the time and was accompanied by another lad on a similar bike.

Coroner Jesse McHugh, who was summoned by state police from Highland, stated there was no other vehicle involved and the Rosenkrans had on the other bike was not injured.

The accident happened on a curve while the lads were proceeding at a low rate of speed from New Paltz. Harris apparently lost control on the curve, Coroner McHugh said, and the bike ran through a ditch and struck a tree head-on some 35 feet off the road.

The Fire Ambulance Service of New Paltz was summoned and Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz was called. The lad however died instantly. Coroner McHugh gave a verdict of accidental death from a fractured skull. The remains were taken in charge by the Sutton Brothers Funeral Home at Clintondale.

135,000 Civilians In Armed Services Will Lose Jobs

Navy Installations Hit Hardest in Move to Slash Military Spending

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson announced today that 135,000 civilian workers for the armed services will be laid off in his drive to slash military spending.

Navy installations were the hardest hit in the civilian cut. They were ordered to reduce by 76,000, the army by 41,000 and air force 18,000.

This program, going into effect immediately, will result in an estimated saving of $200,000,000 in the current fiscal year ending next June 30. Then it is calculated to bring a saving of $500,000,000 a year thereafter.

A total of 50 installations will be closed down, many will be cut severely.

These savings were worked out by the individual services themselves, the army, navy and air force.

The navy shipyard at Long Beach, Calif., was ordered practically closed down to a custodial basis.

Its civilian employment was reduced from 5,800 on July 31, 1949 to a proposed 400.

Brooklyn naval shipyard's civilian employment—22,25 on July 31—was ordered cut to 3,385.

Some of these reductions will go into effect immediately and others will start in about three months.

The announcement by the defense establishment was made as congressmen went into a huddle with military leaders to get details on how the cuts will affect their home districts.

In addition to establishments in this country, military installations in Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Trinidad will feel the economy axe.

The number of reserve officers now on active duty also will be reduced. In the next two to three months, 12,073 will be returned to inactive status. Of these, 5,787 are in the army, 3,137 in the navy and 3,129 in the air force.

Aside from the Long Beach and Brooklyn shipyards, other major cuts in civilian employment will include:

Naval ordnance plant at York, Pa., reduced 498 from 1,398 to 900.

Naval shipyards, Pearl Harbor, reduced 1,621 from 5,488 to 3,867.

The Naval Air Station at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, is wiped out with a cut of 481.

Air force installations to be inactivated include:

Spokane, Wash., at New Rochelle, N. Y., with only 12 workers to be left out of an estimated 347.

Various other air force installations are to be declared surplus or turned back to the army. Still others are to take sharp reductions in employment by December 1.

Army installations to be shut down or reduced to a maintenance status, beginning September 1, include:

Camp Kilmer, N. J., now a staging area for the New York Port of Embarkation, April 1, 1950.

There may be vigorous efforts of lawmakers from the affected areas to resist the economy plans—not just explain them to constituents. If such efforts were successful, the military might wind up with a larger budget.

Tells Investigators Tips He Gave on Plans for Buying Were Not Confidential

Cite Par's Trips Will Ask About Use of Military Planes by Perfume Company

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman told senators today that he never would have let James V. Hunt come into his office if he had known Hunt was a five percent.

Feldman, suspended quartermaster general of the army, was on the witness stand for the second day at the Senate inquiry into whether improper influence has figured in the handling of government business.

The special subcommittee conducting the investigation questioned Feldman at length regarding his relations with Hunt.

Other witnesses have testified that Hunt, who describes himself as a management counselor, boasted of an inside track to the White House through friendship with Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Vaughan is President Truman's military aide.

Feldman acknowledged to the senators yesterday that he had given Hunt information on Army buying plans, but he declared it was not really confidential information although he wrote Hunt a letter asking him to keep it in confidence.

Feldman declared, too, that he had no knowledge that Hunt was a "so-called five percent." This is a term applied to persons who charge a fee, usually five per cent of the proceeds, for help in seeking government contracts for others.

Feldman's relations with Hunt are only one phase of the committee's investigation.

Will Ask About Planes
The Senate group expects to go tomorrow into the use of military planes by agents of a perfume company. The company is the same which presented home freezers to Washington notables.

Senator Mundt (R-S.D.), a committee member, said a "very important person" rating got military plane space for the perfume company agents.

Mundt refused to say whether the Senate investigators know who in the government arranged for the high priority passage aboard an air transport command plane.

He did say the probes have learned that Verley agents made at least one round trip flight to Paris in 1945 as officially rated "V.I.P.s."

The committee already has received testimony that the Verley Company paid for seven home freezers presented in 1945 to Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Vaughan, who is President Truman's military aide, in turn made gifts of the units to prominent Washingtonians. One of the freezers went to Mrs. Truman at the summer White House in Independence, Mo.

The committee also has testimony (Continued on Page 19, Col. 4)

Fires Whiplash New Areas Of Nation's Forests Today

(By The Associated Press)
Fast-moving fires whiplashed new areas of the nation's forests today.

Flames were reported out of control in at least three states. In other areas fires were still burning but had been checked.

Fire has blackened more than 40,000 acres of national forest lands in Idaho, California and Montana alone so far this month. The fire conditions are considered the most critical in the past decade.

In Idaho's national forests, an aerial survey showed fires had gained 2,000 acres in the last two days. The flames have blackened 17,000 acres in the state.

Winds up to 40 miles an hour sent a forest fire in the black hills of South Dakota out of control. The flames swept out of the hills into the plains country.

All available men and equipment were massed between the fire front and the town of Tilton, S. D.

While western states struggled to halt the flames, forest fires also flared in northeastern United States and Canada.

Maine's fire hazard was rated Class A—very dangerous—by State Forestry Commissioner Albert D. Nutting. Blazes were reported in Roxbury and Allagash forests of northern Aroostook county near the Canadian border and in the Flagstaff-Stratton area.

More than 200 fires were scattered through the Canadian provinces of Quebec and Ontario.

The most active Quebec fire was in Lotbiniere county, 40 miles south of the city of Quebec. The fire was reported out of control last night. Three villages were threatened. At least 12 houses, two saw mills and a school were destroyed.

The weatherman gave no estimate of when the fires might be massed between the

FAIRY TALE CLOTHES

"Molyneux brings subtle variations, definitely 1950, to his well-tailored daytime clothes of simple elegance" enunciated Mother, reading aloud from the latest fashion news from Paris. "This winter's collars on handsome, loose coats in heavy wool velours are enormous, joined to revers by a classical notch lying on the top of the shoulder."

"What do you want to read that stuff for?" asks the neighbor who had paused by on the way home from marketing. "You know you can't have clothes like that. Makes me a little sick to read about that wonderful stuff when I know I can't have it. I just keep away from it."

"I like to read it for the same reason the children like to read the fairy tales," replies Mother firmly. "They love to read about marvels and miracles and golden gauze and rich satins and 'abracadabra, presto, change!' and so do I." And she reads on:

"Mme. Schlaparelli shows a collection sometimes sound, sometimes bizarre—six-inch double fold of mat green taffeta at the décolletage of a dull, dark slate blue sheath evening gowns—petal peplums—petal hemlines—Ducharme's lovely rose pattern brocades—"

On the whole both Mother and the children like their lives and clothes better than any of these strange things they read about, but reading about them gives them a lift. Besides, now Mother can make a new blouse with a petal peplum to go with the little old suit of year before last, and feel just as frisky as any Faerie Queene.

LAW IN AUSTRALIA

Any government's decrees are successful only in the measure that they are supported by the public. Australia's socialized medicine program is being actively fought by the doctors and treated apathetically by the people who are supposed to benefit by it. A court fight is now going on by which the physicians hope to prove the illegality of the measure.

The program is moderate in scope, covering only the furnishing of free medicine, but the doctors object to the fact that they must write their prescriptions on government forms, and are fined for not doing so. No progress has been made so far in enforcing the law.

Every government, state and municipality has on its books a number of laws which have been allowed to die quiet deaths, owing to the fact that they could not be enforced. Many others have been repealed for the same reason. Laws, like governments, must have the support of their beneficiaries if they are to stay alive.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S JOB

At last the vice-president has a full-time job. By the new National Security Act he becomes an ex-officio member of the National Security Council. This is perhaps the first time in our history that the heir to the presidency has had a regular assignment at anything but presiding over the Senate and listening to its speeches. No wonder John Adams called the vice-presidency "the most insignificant office ever devised by man," and early deriders of the position suggested that its holder should be titled "His Superfluous Excellency."

Perhaps the precedent may be followed, and future legislation will put the vice-president on other important boards. Then he might be helped to learn something of what the President needs to know about important problems. Thus if he suddenly became president through the death of his predecessor, the duties of the job would not be altogether strange to him.

$20 BILLION STOP-GAP

It sometimes happens that Congress does not pass all its money bills for government operation by the time the new fiscal year begins on July 1, and in that case a stop-gap resolution is usually passed to authorize the government to operate on credit until the appropriations are passed. This year, such a

PROTECTIVE TEACHING

The difficulty about the Ober Act in Maryland and the Feinberg Act in New York is that disloyalty is hard to establish in a free society. Opposition is not disloyalty. Was it disloyal to the United States for the Democratic National Committee to establish a smear machine to malign the character and destroy the political personality of Herbert Hoover who was then actually President of the United States? Was the opposition to Franklin D. Roosevelt's policy of appeasement at Teheran and Yalta disloyalty to the United States? Is opposition to Harry Truman's bankrupting Fair Deal—the inventions of such men as Leon Keyserling and Oscar Ewing—disloyal to the United States?

The fact is that opposition is essential to our form of government which recognizes freedom of debate and discussion. Therefore, the various left-wing elements, from the opportunistic A.D.A. to the Communists, feel that they are as loyal as anyone else. The problem posed then is to define loyalty, which, in a free society, is very difficult. It used to be quite clear. It did not matter what one thought or said or wrote. To prove disloyalty, there had to be an overt act, something specific, discernible and measurable. But how are we to measure the corruption of young children in schools? By what instruments are we to gauge the effects of word and gesture on the young mind? For instance, if constantly, like water wearing a stone, the idea is projected that patriotism is an ugly vice, that only old-fogies, reactionaries, fascists love their country but good and understanding people love the world—how is a patriotic generation to be reared?

Or take, for instance, the constant projection of the idea that man is an animal conditioned by his environment and controlled solely by material, accidental causes—what does that do to the child's concept of moral law upon which our civilization is based? A nation that departs widely from its civilization may be destroyed by a challenging civilization, if the capacity of its people to resist has been destroyed.

In opposition to the Feinberg Act in New York state, an act which forbids Communists to teach in our schools, Rose Russell, legislative representative of the Teachers Union C.I.O., makes the point: "Our citizens must protect their schools, specifically with regard to the Feinberg law, we must demand that the Board of Regents not follow the un-American procedure of the Attorney General, but provide due process safeguards for any organization which it contemplates putting on a list as 'subversive.'"

"We must insist on full encouragement for free inquiry for teacher and student."

"Our schools are indeed in danger. Not from Communists, or Communism—whether broadly or narrowly defined—but from those who, in the guise of combating Communism, are actually smothering intellectual freedom and stifling education with the very regimentation and 'totalitarianism' they pretend to oppose."

This particular statement is identical with the Communist attitude toward our schools. In a word, parents shall have no voice in the education of their children; the community shall have no voice—because the teacher must be free to do as she pleases. What is meant by "free inquiry" in relation to an elementary school teacher who is hired by the community to teach arithmetic, spelling, reading, writing, something about this country?

Miss Russell says of teachers who are to be fired under the Feinberg Act:

"The six teachers whose jobs are threatened by the local witch-hunt have a total of more than 120 years of satisfactory and even superior service. Who is to decide whether their teaching has been 'satisfactory and even superior'—the school authorities, the community, the parents?"

The Feinberg Act declares:

"The consequence of any such infiltration into the public schools is that subversive propaganda can be disseminated among children of tender years by those who teach them and to whom the children look for guidance, authority and leadership. The legislature finds that members of such groups frequently use their office or position to advocate and teach subversive doctrines. . . . the legislature find that such dissemination of propaganda may be and frequently is sufficiently subtle to escape detection in the classroom."

Loyalty must be defined as love of country, as exclusive love of country.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

A physician making a complete physical examination of a professional man in his fifties, found everything normal except that his blood pressure was low. He was a well built man, normal in weight and with no history of any recent illness. Also his blood was normal in iron and red and white cells.

As he was surprised to find low blood pressure in such a healthy robust man he told his patient that he could not understand why his blood pressure was low as he was not the type in which low blood pressure is usually found. The patient said that low blood pressure "ran in the family"; that both his parents, his brother and sister had low blood pressure.

Just as people ulcer is found in slender, nervous, tense individuals, low blood pressure is found usually in slender, narrow-chested, fastidious individuals. The heart is on a lower level, and the blood has to be pumped around a sharper bend than it would be in a wide-chested person. However, even if pressure is low, many of them enjoy good health, evidently because they have inherited low blood pressure.

In his book, "The Years After Fifty," Dr. Wingate M. Johnson, Professor of Clinical Medicine, Lake Forest College, states that "if a person with low blood pressure is suffering from fatigue, dizziness, poor appetite, or a tendency to be cold natured, there may be some underlying factor such as anemia (thin blood) or underactive thyroid gland, that can be treated." If not, the best advice to such patients is to keep their weight up to normal, to get at least eight hours sleep, and avoid the reckless use of headache powders or quieting drugs. Thin blood and low blood pressure usually go together. Any recent illness or loss of blood lowers the blood pressure.

With low blood pressure the individual is not as vigorous as one with normal pressure but he can eat what he likes, and knows that those with low blood pressure live longer than those with high blood pressure.

stop-gap resolution, covering about twenty billion dollars of the budget, has been passed not once but three times. This is said to be a record.

It is not a record to be bragged about in the Senate, where the regular money bills are being delayed. It means the appropriations will finally be passed in a great rush. Twenty billion dollars' worth is a lot of rushing.

The Awkward Squad.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington — Congress hasn't heard the last of government reorganization plan No. 1 to set up a Department of Welfare.

The Senate's turn-down has not cooled President Truman's determination to put the proposal through. He will make another try to get approval.

The President disclosed this in a talk with Reps. Robert Cresser and Wayne Hays of Ohio. They conferred with him on government reorganization plans.

"As long as government reorganization can be vetoed by either branch of Congress," said Hays, "it will be impossible to effect economy in expenditures. It's the old story of lobby pressure. The lobbies go to work before the scenes and tell these proposals. That happened when Hoover was President and what the Senate did on this proposal was more of the same."

"That's true," said Truman, "but they are not scoring me. If the Hoover Commission's magnificent report is to mean anything, it will have to be put into effect. I am going to keep on sending plans for that purpose to Congress. Whenever one is vetoed, I'll send up a revised plan in its place."

Touchy History

House Rules Committee consideration of the arms-for-Europe bill unexpectedly touched off a sharp explosion on American history.

Supporting the measure, Rep. Ray Madden, D., Ind., vigorously criticized former President Hoover for assailing administration spending policy.

"The ex-President was talking out of both sides of his mouth when he said we are spending ourselves into a 'colossal state,'" thundered Madden. "He himself has advocated $30,000,000,000 for defense and foreign aid out of a total budget of $42,000,000,000. He talks economy, but he wouldn't cut a cent of the military and foreign-aid expenditures."

"That's an old story," broke in Chairman Adolph Sabath, D., Ill. "I've heard it many times. I remember as far back as the period after World War I, when the same cries were raised by him who fought to keep us out of the League of Nations. If Congress had not listened to those men, there might not have been a World War."

Then, pointing at Rep. John Davis Lodge, D., Conn., Sabath added, "There sits the grandson of the man who led the fight against the League — Senator Henry Cabot Lodge."

For a moment, Lodge sat in stunned silence. Then, white with anger, he jumped to his feet and shouted, "The record will prove who is right."

"I just gave you the record," retorted Sabath.

Sunday School

The "5-per center" uproar has had no effect on Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan as a Sunday-school teacher.

He has continued to conduct his regular class of high-school boys every Sunday morning at the Westminster Presbyterian Church across the Potomac in Alexandria, Va. Usual attendance is 10 to 12 students.

Vaughan has been conducting this class for three years. He is regular in his appearance. When he can't attend, Mrs. Vaughan takes over.

Vaughan uses themes from the regular material prepared by the Presbyterian Church for such classes. He does not wear his uniform to church, and popular with parishioners and his class, he delivers his teaching with jokes and wit.

Note—Vaughan has told friends that regular army antipathy to reserve officers is one of the secret influences behind the Senate probe. Vaughan has long been critical of "West Pointers."

Tideand Oil

Sen. Joe O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., chairman of the Interior Affairs Committee, has thrown a monkey wrench into the drive to stannum through a so-called "compromise" on the Tideland oil issue.

He was supposed to sponsor "compromise" legislation in the Senate. But after examining the bills agreed on at secret conferences with California, Texas and Louisiana officials, O'Mahoney refused to have anything to do with them.

Hearings on the measures are scheduled to open today before a House Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Rep. Francis E. Walter, D., Pa.

One of the measures is an out-and-out grab. It would give the states the bulk of these vast oil reserves that the Supreme Court ruled belong to the federal government. The other measure gives the government a better break. It would divide the proceeds 50-50.

Says O'Mahoney, "I don't consider those bills satisfactory. Early this year, I introduced a bill that would provide federal control over the management of Tideland oil. I have not changed my position on that bill."

The chances of legislation on this issue are remote at this session.

Flashes

The House Ways and Means Committee clamped a tight secrecy ban on the names of the three members who voted against the social security liberalization bill. They are Reps. Carl Curtis, R., Neb., Noah Mason, R., Ill., and John Byrnes, R., Wis. . . . President Truman was miffed when Sen. Arthur Watkins, R., Utah, rushed through the $70,000,000 measure for the Weber Basin reclamation project without debate. "That's a very big bill to be passed by unanimous consent," the President told Sen. Elbert Thomas and Rep. Walter Granger of Utah. . . . Former Sen. John Sherman Cooper, liberal Kentucky Republican, will address a United Mine Workers meeting from three states on Labor Day. Cooper was one of the few Republicans who opposed the Taft-Hartley Act.

Principals Have Put U. N. Aside as Unworkable; Truman Solution: Build Up Allied Armaments

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 24—President Truman spelled out in his Miami speech a little more explicitly than he had before the reasons why the United States government and other governments today consider the United Nations organization a futile instrument to enforce world peace.

While there are words of praise for the ideals of the United Nations and for its principles, the United Nations has really been put aside as a means of preserving peace in the world. The President says:

"The principles of the United Nations are still our goal. We have undertaken to defend and preserve them. We will keep that pledge."

"Shortly after the end of the war, however, it became apparent that the United Nations could not live up to all our hopes for it until all nations were united in the desire for peace. It became necessary, therefore, for the free countries to take action to defend the principles of that organization and preserve it."

The President seems to confuse the issue a bit later in his address. He recalls what the United States did in Greece and Turkey to "resist Communist pressures" and says that "our prompt action preserved the integrity of both countries."

There is nothing, however, in the United Nations charter which obligates any member to use or threaten the use of physical force in order to stop the ideological progress of any nation whether it be committed to the cause of communism or democracy or fascism. Strictly speaking, the fascist governments in Spain and in Argentina might be held to be threats to the cause of democracy but, presumably because neither of these nations has allowed its ideology to overflow its own borders into other countries, there has not been any condemnation of the doctrine practiced.

Soviet Russia has already been accused of aggression by President Truman. But, here again, there has been no complete functioning of the machinery of the United Nations which permits an investigation into aggression and a formal decision by the United Nations Council or Assembly or both that aggression has been committed.

"If it were possible," says the President, "we would prefer that these bulwarks against aggression be established by the United Nations. We hope the peace of the world will some day be enforced by security forces under the control and direction of the United Nations.

"We have been working for that. But the Soviet Union has blocked every effort to establish an effective international police force and to free the world from the fear of aggression. For that reason, we have had to join other friendly nations in forming regional defense pacts."

It so happens that Soviet Russia joined with other nations in regional pacts and signed non-aggression treaties with France and with Britain long before the North Atlantic Pact was signed, but no military assistance was arranged for in either case. The pacts were merely pledges of mutual defense and were also supposed to be within the letter as well as the spirit of the United Nations Charter, which permits collective pacts and regional agreements for defense within its membership.

What President Truman has said is that the United States and other nations now have given up hope of forming an international police force through the United Nations. This is but another way of saying that the United Nations has become just a forum for periodic discussion. As an international force in the world, its principal members have put the organization aside as unworkable.

This attitude toward the United Nations scarcely four years after it was born is the direct consequence of the inability of the major powers to settle the after-war problems and Far Eastern problems growing out of the war. Because clumsy and inept diplomacy has failed, the United States has adopted the military concept that peace can be preserved now only by building huge armaments or by adding other nations allied with the United States to build up their armaments.

"We are not arming ourselves and our friends to start a fight with anybody," says the President. "We are building defenses so that we won't have to fight."

This is the age-old doctrine of military policy, which assumes inevitable war or that an opposing state or group of states will attempt armed domination indefinitely and will not build corresponding armaments to meet what it may believe is a threat to its security. This is the interminable and perennial language of military force that has twice failed in recent generations to keep world peace.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 23—The experience of Leonard Irving, the congressman from President Truman's home district, has convinced him that the lower classes do not out of hand and that racial tolerance can be carried to foolish extremes. Mr. Irving is a member of the Committee on Labor. He is a citizen of Independence, Mo., and is president of Local 264 of the Hodcarriers' and Common Laborers' Union, which has been the hottest racket of them all. Local 264, with headquarters in Kansas City, has about 2,000 members. About 40 per cent are Negroes.

A short time ago rebellion reared its ugly head in the form of a court petition demanding an accounting and charging the hierarchy with overpaying themselves, spending money on living, congressional campaign and grafting through an overtime racket.

The leader of this insurrection was Theodore Baldwin, a Negro with a long and apparently blameless record of union regularity. Mr. Irving was somehow prompted to remark that 92 of the 100 petitioners in the suit were colored brothers, as though this should discredit their case. Brother Baldwin said this was the first time anyone had tried to draw the color line in this local.

Congressman Irving flew to Kansas City for a meeting with 500 men tried to attend. Parliamentary procedure gave way to force and several brothers were stabbed or cut by splintered windows. There was blood on the floors, and a riotous scene. The police escorted Congressman Irving home and after his return to Washington and a little meditation, he expressed himself in executive session of the Labor Committee of the House.

"These meetings are supposed to be secret but it is now common practice to pipeline the confidential matters in print, each side for its own purpose. This fact is frankly acknowledged. This disgression will serve to explain how brother Irving's remarks on 'democracy' in unions and on racial discrimination were communicated to the press."

In executive session, brother Irving bemoaned brother Baldwin's ambition and said he had now decided that there was too much democracy in unions. He proposed to amend the laws right away so as to protect union executives from the ill-advised and embarrassing impudence of their subjects. Accented on that point later by Mr. Phelps Adams, of the New York Sun he said: "I can't help thinking that the unions don't deserve their dictatorial powers enough."

Brother Irving's international is

More Extensive Use of Newspaper Advertising

Plans for an enlarged merchandising program on Hiram Walker products in the Kingston market were announced by James Andretta, president of Colony Liquor Distributors, Inc., who returned today from a national meeting of Hiram Walker distributors held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago.

Mr. Andretta announced a more extensive use of newspaper advertising this fall compared to last fall in Kingston on Hiram Walker's leading brand, Imperial.

This increased advertising results not only from the company's belief in newspapers as a fundamental advertising medium, but is due to the increasing popularity of Imperial, Mr. Andretta said. He declared that for the six months ending July 31, Imperial sales throughout the country were 8.8% ahead of the corresponding period of last year.

Colony Liquor have been distributing Hiram Walker products since 1934.

Business Clinic At Poughkeepsie

Bard College will conduct a Mid-Hudson Business Clinic at Poughkeepsie this October and November, it was announced by W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional manager for the New York State Department of Commerce, at the regular meeting of the Kingston Lions Club Tuesday noon.

The clinic, to be sponsored by the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce, will meet once a week for six weeks, beginning October 11. Meetings will be at the Arlington High School and are open to the public for a small registration fee.

This will be Bard's second experiment in offering business instruction to the public. The first was in Kingston during the winter of 1947-1948 and was intended primarily for the small businessman. This year's clinic will include all businesses and will include accounting, income tax and other instructions for professional groups.

The program of speakers has not been completed, but will be announced shortly, Swartzmiller said.

Kingston businessmen and all others in the Mid-Hudson valley were urged to attend by Swartzmiller.

Many a morning after is caused by a lovely Eve.

Give your ears an occasional chance. When you talk you repeat what you already know; when you listen you learn something.

A woman is like a salad. Much depends on the dressing!

Opportunity doesn't knock these days; it rings the phone and asks a silly question.—Exchange.

The greatest mistake you can make in this life is to be continually fearing you will make one.—Elbert Hubbard.

The difference between perseverance and obstinacy is that one comes from a strong will and the other from a strong won't.

Wife—Don't you think, dear, that a man has more sense after he's married?
Hubby—Yes, but it's too late then.

Boss—Henry, you're a liar. You took a day off to bury your mother-in-law and I met her downtown this morning.
Henry—Oh, I didn't say she the one which held no convention and elected no officer by popular vote in more than 31 years. During that time it administered millions of dollars by the whim of a handful of high racketeers who plundered the treasury at will. It bought out three other international organizations without any vote of the stuff whose value in these sales was computed at so much per head, based on their yield in dues and other tribute. And its constitution read that the union was composed of these racketeering executive high-binders. The rank and file had no entity.

This definition was changed slightly two years ago by the union lawyers but not for any consideration of the members. The purpose was to protect the executive racketeers from personal responsibility for crimes against the Taft-Hartley law which had been common practice up to that time.

Still wrought up, Brother Irving said he was now sorry he ever endorsed fair employment practice, because he felt that the negroes had ganged up on him. He used the word "niggers". The court temporarily solved Brother Irving's troubles by throwing out the complaint but that seems not to end the rebellion. His remarks on "too much democracy" and racial bumptiousness doubtless will be used against Mr. Truman himself although it appears that the President didn't want Irving for congressman, hardly knows him and approves him only as a Democrat.

Brother Irving's methods and morals honor the tradition of the grand parent racket, the International Union.

He suffered his boys to give him a "present" of a $3,000 Cadillac, because his wife had trouble with her left leg and this was "one that you didn't have to use your left leg on."

He already had such a car but "the boys wanted to give me another and I accepted."

There were no clarifying remarks to show why, with one car suited to Mrs. Irving's special need, his boys should pay the treasury to give him another. A per capita tax was levied to raise the $3,000.

He also explained that he charged the union with "over-time" for thinking about union problems after 5 p. m. and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, for answering phone calls in overtime hours and for receiving applicants for work permits at his home during his private hours. He was not employed on an hourly basis but got $175 a week, plus pickings, so the rebels argued that overtime pay was inappropriate. One check for "overtime" alone was $3,860 for 14 months. He immediately took the automobile to Washington where it cannot conceivably be used on union business. And Irving paid himself $1,500 expenses to attend a convention of the A. F. of L. in San Francisco, $3,000 for expenses of a similar mission to Cincinnati and $400 for four trips to Jefferson City, a short pleasant drive from his home.

Like other boss unionists who loyally observe the Roosevelt reputation, Brother Irving put his son, Jerry, on the payroll of Local 264 as business agent. (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

By BILLY ROSE
This is the story of a quadruple hex—as told me by Saber Khouri, owner, manager and chef of The Mecca, a Syrian restaurant in the heart of New York's rug district. In the Syria of times gone by, a camel dealer named Tarra Singh once traveled to a far city, and when his business was completed he went to the hut of a soothsayer to see whether the stars were propitious for his return journey.

The seer studied his horoscope and said, "You will arrive safely, but between now and the change of the moon, you will kill three whom you love, and one whom you despise."

The dealer chuckled, threw the old man some coins, mounted his horse and set out for home, his dog leaping behind him. But when alone on the desert, he began to feel uneasy. First, he was the three he loved? First, his wife; second, his horse; third, his dog. As for the fourth, the one he despised, he could think of no one who fitted the description. Anxious to get back to his wife, he kept urging his horse to greater and greater speed and the following day, a few hundred yards from the first oasis, the animal fell to the ground and died. Realizing the fault was his, the dealer prostrated himself and prayed for the forgiveness of Allah. But when he got to his feet, he saw his dog gorging itself on the meat of his horse and, infuriated, he drew his scimitar and cut off its head.

Now, Tarra Singh was afraid—half of the soothsayer's prophecy had already come true. When he got to the gates of the city, he sent a messenger to his wife to tell her what had happened and to explain that only by never seeing her again could the rest of the prophecy be defeated. His wife's answer arrived within the hour: "If you do not come, I will die of longing, and thus the prophecy will be fulfilled."

So Tarra went home, but he was unable to sleep or eat and the foreboding kept festering in his head. Finally he decided that the only way to frustrate the prophecy was to put an end to his life. But when he told his wife what he had in mind, she threw her arms around him and, by her tears, convinced him it was better to stay alive.

That night, however, unnerved by the dealer's talk of suicide, his wife decided to end the suspense by taking poison herself. And when Tarra found her the next morning, there was a note telling him not to worry any more—that the prophecy was defeated because she had died by her own hand. But the dealer knew better. He knew that his threat to do away with himself was responsible for her death.

Now, three-fourths of the soothsayer's prediction had come true, and obviously it was his duty to kill the one person whom he despised—himself. But before he could carry out this resolve, a message arrived from the soothsayer.

"My son," it read, "forgive me. Soon after you left I discovered that I had used the wrong chart when I plotted your future. Therefore, my predictions are without meaning and I can only hope they have not caused you too much anguish."

A few days later, the soothsayer was found dead. His head had been cut off with a single blow of a scimitar.

"You yarn doesn't add up," I said to the Syrian restaurateur. "If the soothsayer used the wrong chart, it was all coincidence and the story has no point."

Saber Khouri smiled. "What

Against School Aid
Clinton, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—State Comptroller Frank C. Moore, who administers nearly a half billion dollars annually in state aid to localities, said today he thought the practice reduced the effectiveness of local government.

As state assistance increases, the responsibility of local government is weakened, Moore declared. Better government results when the agency that spends the money has the responsibility of raising it, he added. Moore addressed more than 150 young people attending a Republican-sponsored school of politics at Hamilton College.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

This column on August 2 mentioned Vanderlyn painting "Arling" which was listed under "America's Favorite Paintings" in the July 31 "This Week" Magazine section of the N. Y. Herald Tribune in which it stated our local Kingston, N. Y., born artist was English. I dropped the New York editors a note saying Vanderlyn was Kingston born, his father before him American born, and his grandfather of Manhattan Dutch ancestry, besides giving other data on our local some 60 Vanderlyns in the Senate House Museum.

Following letter dated August 9, 1949, I received from "This Week" magazine, "Thanks for your interesting letter of July 31 and the more recent follow up note to it. The information you gave about John Vanderlyn was very interesting to us. I am afraid that we must admit ourselves in the wrong for the statement we printed to the effect that he was an 'English painter.' Signed, Charles D. Rice, associate editor."

Also just received this other note from same magazine, dated August 10: "Thank you for your letter. We are very sorry for the mistake we made about Vanderlyn's nationality. One of our staff visited Kingston the week-end it appeared, and she is now barely speaking to the caption writer. Signed, Helen Greenwood, associate editor."

As its only human to err, I wrote back: "Enjoyed your little note on Vanderlyn's mistaken nationality . . . in this heat all is forgiven. Perhaps your 'This Week' can make peace with Kingston townspeople by doing an illustrated feature on: 'Our Old Senate House Museum, oldest public building in U. S. (1876) burned by British, but stone construction so good then, only wood partially destroyed. Its history a mile long in state government affairs. Senate House Museum on same grounds, houses 60 Vanderlyns besides Colonial, Revolutionary, etc., items."

Peter Stuyvesant planned our uptown business section, Indians burned Kingston twice, British once, never a dull moment then. Stuyvesant came up and insisted all scattered farm houses be removed within a stockade fence some 14 feet high. Three sides on high hills, (Clinton avenue, North Front street and Green street) to more easily see approaching Indians. This was done inside of some three weeks, and this spot later became uptown business section, historical markers to prove events. Peter Stuyvesant also sat himself down under big tree at Academy green, opposite Gov. Clinton Hotel, and smoked peace pipe with Indians and colonists. Two there with historical marker yet.

During Revolution, John Vaughn, Englishman, burned Kingston, leaving one house standing, where Dr. Lambert Bly lives today. No one is sure why Vaughn left this house, perhaps because a colored servant rolled out the barrel for the British boys, perhaps Vaughn danced with a young lady who lived in that house once . . . Also mentioned Old Dutch Church 1660; Washington having slept in Kingston, etc." So perhaps "This Week" may do an article on Kingston as a place offering for their error, only time, will tell.

Red Cross Shelters

The American Red Cross has purchased $60,000 worth of additional canvas for roofing 3,500 emergency shelters for homeless victims of the Ecuadorian earthquake. It was announced in Washington by Basil O'Connor, Red Cross president. The new relief allotment brings to a total of $135,000 the value of American Red Cross aid to the earthquake victims.

EAT WELL for Less

Does spicy chicken broil—a platter of it—sound like something good to serve to visitors over the Labor Day week-end? It's different, it's easy and it's delicious.

Spicy Chicken Broil

(Small broiler serves 2, larger one 3)

One broiling chicken, ½ teaspoon onion salt, ¼ teaspoon vinegar, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup butter, melted, pinch cinnamon.

Wash and dry chicken. Place on hot greased broiling pan, skin side down. Combine seasonings and butter. Pour over chicken. Broil with temperature control set for 350 degrees F for 15 minutes with rack 3 to 4 inches below flame. Turn chicken and broil 15 minutes longer basting several times with butter sauce. Place on platter and pour sauce over chicken.

Will you have any leftover chicken in the refrigerator? Then here's a new way to use it:

Chicken à la Delicieux

(Leftover Chicken)

(Serves 4)

One can cream chicken soup, ¼ cup light cream, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon powdered mustard, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ cup sliced mushrooms, 1½ cups diced cooked chicken, 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten.

Add cream and seasonings to soup. Heat. Mix flour to paste with little cold water and add to soup gradually, stirring constantly. Heat until thickened, stirring. Saute mushrooms in butter. Add with chicken to sauce. Stir a little sauce into yolk and return to pan. Simmer one minute, stirring constantly. Serve on toast or in patty shells.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Canned grapefruit juice, French toast with crisp bacon, jelly or syrup, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Poached eggs on broccoli on toast, light cheese sauce, onion bread, butter or fortified margarine, fresh fruit cup, sweet crackers, tea, milk.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—It costs money to get your child ready for school, as if you didn't know. And the nation's merchants, as well as many manufacturers, are hoping you'll tidy up the young sprout this month and next with plenty of new clothes, shoes and accessories.

Prices are slightly lower than last year in most stores, but you still can pay some mighty fancy prices if you want your child to wear fancy clothes.

Usually it costs a little more to outfit a boy than a girl. It takes more and sturdier leather, wool and cotton to hold junior in line.

Good Sales Reported
Back-to-school promotions already have started in retail stores across the land. Good sales totals are reported in many places.

"They've had a toddlers to teenage fashion show" in Dallas, with models displaying everything from hand-made pinafores to shocking pink net formal for the high school holiday dances.

Both in Oregon and in Brooklyn, stores report firemen red is the fastest selling color in the back-to-school promotions. The south reports good sales of pajamas and robes to those going away to school.

But the older pupils aren't the merchant's only customers by any means. Some Boston merchants estimate it would cost $48 to fix up a boy for first grade, if the clothes he already has are in the state that most boys' duds usually are. Sister's clothes would cost $4.

Thanks to big baby crops during the war, there'll be more children going to school this year than ever before—more than 30 million boys and girls under 18 years of age are expected to enter the classrooms.

It's the largest potential retail market that the outfitters of the young ever have had.

Big Shot in Arm
Figure out how much you're spending this fall on your own pride and joy and multiply that by 30 million, and you'll see why merchants around the country look for their business to get a shot in the arm this month.

It'll be a bigger market next year, and the next. The largest baby crop of all was in 1947. They'll be hitting school about 1953. They'll need more schools, more teachers, more children's clothing and shoes, more books, more paper, more soda pop.

As if it's state governments spent $2.3 billion on schools in the year ended June 30, 1948, the census bureau has just figured out. Perhaps your community is one of the many where the increasing number of children is bringing pressure for new school buildings, new bond issues, higher taxes.

When your children get to school, there'll be more than one way to buy. Some schools supply the pupils with books out of tax money. But in others, particularly the higher educational brackets, you'll be paying for them, and for athletic equipment, band instruments, and a whole host of things that merchants will be particularly glad to sell you this fall—including gasoline for the hot-rod.

Can Be Joy or Gloom

School fashions can help make an industry prosperous or gloomy. For instance, large numbers of high school and college youth have been going hatless. But hats are coming back to the campus, the hat makers say hopefully. The Brand Names Foundation had the Student Marketing Institute of New York survey 44 educational institutions around the country. It reports nearly half of the boys are wearing hats again, and about 60 per cent of the girl students. That's fine for the hat makers and retailers, and a little more dough out of pop's pocket.

Then there is the matter of pocket money. Children jingle more coin in their pockets these days than they used to. The National Shoe Institute, with an eye on sales potential, estimates that weekly allowances, plus pay for after-school jobs, give a school boy an average of $4.85 a week. He spends $2.62 during the week and puts the rest aside for lump spending. The girls get less, an average of $4.61 each, but they find it harder to save, and spend $3.44 a week. The institute says all this adds up to $4½ billion business potential a year for retailers. The institute takes a deep breath and says:

"The buying power of American youth is amazing."

There are some rubber bridge players who go along picking up a trick here and there, never making an unsound bid, never taking a chance. This type will win in the long run, but you will never find their game very exciting. It is a known fact to good rubber bridge players that penalties do pay off big.

H. S. Dinkelspiel, Jr., who used to be one of the outstanding players of New York, but gave up bridge for a good many years, gave me today's calamity hand. He told me he was going to do a little brushing up and come back into tournament competition.

When Dinkelspiel gave me this hand he said, "Mac, look the West hand over. South bid a heart and West bid one no trump, and he took only one trick. Doesn't that seem unbelievable?" I said no, remembering the hand I wrote up several weeks ago where I held four aces and took only one trick.

Here is now the play went on today's hand. Dinkelspiel won North's opening lead of the ten of diamonds with the ace. He returned the ten of hearts. West played the jack, North won with the king, and returned the five of hearts. Dinkelspiel played the nine-spot which was allowed to hold the trick. He continued with the queen of hearts, West winning with the ace.

West elected to make a peculiar play. He led the ten of clubs, hoping to induce the opponents to take the trick, thus establishing four good club tricks. Dinkelspiel won the trick with the king. He cashed his two good hearts. The jack of diamonds was led and held the trick when West wisely played low. He shifted to the deuce of spades. North won with the ace, then cashed all his good diamond tricks. A small spade was played and Junior won this with the king.

North and South won 12 tricks setting the contract six tricks doubled, for a score of 1700 points.

Kerhonkson Has School Opening Set For September 6

Opening of the Kerhonkson Public School is scheduled for Sept. 6, it was announced today. Registration of students re-entering will be held at 9 a. m. on opening day, but all students are asked to report at the high school building at 8:45 a. m.

Children entering for the first time in grade one and the kindergarten are expected to register Aug. 30 from 9 a. m. to noon. Parents are asked to bring birth or baptismal certificates at that time.

Children between the ages of four years and eight months and five years and eight months, as of Sept. 6, will be registered in the kindergarten, and those five years and eight months and over will be registered in the first grade.

It was announced that facilities are available to house a kindergarten, grades 1 and 2, 3 and 4 in rooms being constructed by the Kerhonkson Federated Church.

It has therefore become possible to add a kindergarten, home economics, music, and guidance departments, and to departmentalize the seventh and eighth grades. The rooms are expected to be available Sept. 15 and meanwhile, the grades, kindergarten through 12th year will be housed in the high school building.

Briefly, the following new departments and changes have been made for the school year 1949-50:

Mrs. Lucille Doyle has been appointed to direct and teach a full time kindergarten.

Miss Suzanne Redwood has been appointed teacher of the home economics department. A new two unit kitchen, complete with living area and sewing facilities will be available in September.

William Amann has been appointed full time director of athletics. In the past the physical director has divided his time between social studies and physical education work further down into the elementary grades than it was in other years.

Don Victor Grillo has been appointed director of guidance and teacher of social studies. Guidance is a field of unlimited importance to all students, and is a new part of the program.

Sanford Knoller has been appointed music supervisor. Instrumental and vocal music will be available to students.

Dominic Altieri has been appointed as an additional teacher in the seventh and eighth grades, making possible a departmentalization in these grades, leading to smaller class units.

Other new teachers added to the Kerhonkson faculty are as follows: Miss Shirley Bryan, second grade; Miss Verna Mary Krom, high school mathematics; Miss Edith Pinckney, modern language; Martin Bush, high school English and French; Lawrence Ostrander, commercial subjects.

Returning members of the Kerhonkson faculty are as follows: Miss Abigail Stokes, first grade; Mrs. Mildred Miller, second grade; Miss Rita Cushman, third grade; Mrs. Olive Eck, fourth grade; Mrs. Mary Maricle, fifth grade; Mrs. Ellen Decker, sixth grade; Mrs. Merriam Fred, librarian and seventh and eighth grades; Crowell Sheoley, vice principal and seventh and eighth grades; Daniel Hamlin, science and assistant coach.

Cops Endorse O'Dwyer

Troy, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—The New York State Police Conference considered today a resolution lauding the administration of Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York city as "humane, efficient and beneficial." The resolution was introduced yesterday at the conference's 24th annual convention by the New York City Police Benevolent Association, which claims 19,000 members. The resolution described O'Dwyer, a one-time policeman, as "a man who always stood by a cop." The P.B.A. recently endorsed O'Dwyer for reelection. President John Carton said it was the first time the

P.B.A. publicly had endorsed a candidate.

Amateur Sailors Stuck
New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Five amateur sailors were marooned for half an hour last night when their 36-foot cabin cruiser ran aground on "Big Tom" rock in East Chester Bay about 1,000 feet off Beldor Point, City Island. Charles Burton, 54, of 723 Seventh avenue, owner of the boat, said he and his passengers sounded sirens and bells, inverted the boat's ensign, and sent up two flares before an unidentified seaplane landed nearby to give aid.

Uncle Kills Little Girl to Silence Her on Advances

Detroit, Aug. 24 (AP)—Nine-year-old Barbara Jean Aberl was found strangled to death in a marsh near here last night. A blue jumper was knotted about her throat.

Her ne'er-do-well uncle, Arthur Mayer, 30, scrawled a suicide note relating he killed the girl to keep her from telling of his sex advances.

Searchers stumbled on the little body in a suburban township northwest of here near a mill pond. It was curled in a crude grave just where the sex-crazed uncle said he placed it.

Six hours earlier, the body of Mayer was found in a woods, four miles away by Boy Scouts who aided state police in a two-day search.

A rough map sketched by Mayer before he shot himself through the head led searchers to the girl's body.

The hunt began Sunday when it was learned Mayer had not taken the girl to see relatives as he said he would.

Barbara Jean was a favorite niece of Mayer, and the girl's family had readily consented when he asked to take her on a visit. Only later when the girl turned up missing did the parents learn from state police Mayer had been investigated previously for making sex advances to young girls.

Mayer's suicide note told of his sexual abnormalities, family troubles and personal debts. He wrote of his distress over being separated from his wife, Mary, and six-year-old son, who live in Johnstown Pa. Then he told of Barbara.

"I don't know what came over me to take indecent liberties with her. When she said she would tell what I did to her, I knew I had to take her life."

"Then I know I must take my own life. So will do so."

Noting his own abnormalities, Mayer warned mothers to guard their daughters who become "sex conscious at a young age."

"Knowing all I do," he concluded, "and not knowing where I'm going, this, I suppose, is a fitting end."

The mountains of the world spring up from low furrows in its surface.

The old adage about cats having nine lives must have some basis in fact, judging from the experience recently of the pet belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins Hewitt of Halcottville Center in being severely injured by a passing automobile.

A veterinarian, called on the case, expressed belief the feline was beyond help so Mrs. Hewitt asked the medic to end its sufferings; and this the latter agreed to do, gave a drug, and put the animal in his car. Upon arriving at Roxbury, however, the doctor saw that the cat was still breathing, so he administered another drug to counteract the first one, and then sent the patient home where at last report it was eating well and making a wonderful recovery.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

WIFE NUMBER TWO

A mother writes me: "My son's first wife was deeply beloved by us all. She died several years ago, leaving a two day old baby. We've always had a picture of my son and this wife hanging in our living room. His new second wife has taken an intense dislike to this picture and has told him that she won't continue to come to our house if she is always going to have to look at it. It hurts me to move it but I suppose that is the answer. Or is there another?"

While I understand your feelings, I also see how it could be very distressing to a new wife to be made to feel a usurper. I think it would be very hard for her to have to sit facing this picture of him and his first wife together every time she comes to your house, and in the living room, she could hardly avoid seeing it. Would it make you very unhappy to move the picture to another room—your bedroom, perhaps?

Day Dresses and No Hats
Dear Mrs. Post: When is it correct to wear no hat with a day dress but gloves?

Answer: At any evening hour, if the dress is not a tailored street dress. In this case, of course, a hat would be required.

Elopement
Dear Mrs. Post: A neighbor eloped, or so we were told by other neighbors. Nothing has been said to us directly. This girl is home now. Should we give her our best wishes when we see her or act as though we didn't know?

Answer: Having heard of her marriage, you would naturally wish her happiness.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a white marquisette gown with insertions of Chantilly lace at the neckline over white satin. The bride veil of Chantilly lace was attached to a mantilla. She carried a prayer book covered with white orchids and marked with white satin streamers.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Joseph Goldberg, as matron of honor wore a powder blue gown with blue beading at the neckline and carried a bouquet of tea roses. Murray Farber of Prattville was his brother's best man. Ushers were Alex Woolf of Kingston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Alvin Farber of Margaretville and Morton Farber, Prattville, brothers of the bridegroom, Max Sklar and Rubin Sklar, Brooklyn, brothers of the bride, and Joseph Goldberg, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception for 200 guests was held in the banquet room of the center. Out-of-town guests were present from Kingston, Stamford, Prattville, Margaretville, Bel Mar, N. J., Granville, Rochester, and Los Angeles, Calif. The bride couple left for a wedding trip through New England. For traveling the bride chose a navy blue and beige suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of white orchids. They will reside in Prattville.

Mrs. Farber is a graduate of Madison High School and was employed as secretary in a wholesale automobile concern in New York. Her husband attended Kingston High School and served in the armed forces in Europe for three years. He is employed at the Greendell Pucking Co., Prattville.

Mid-Hudson Valley Has Industry Variety

The Mid-Hudson valley is becoming an area of diversified industry, according to W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional manager for the New York State Department of Commerce. The following, he said, is only a partial list of the many articles manufactured in Orange, Ulster, Greene, Columbia and Dutchess counties:

Lipsticks, women's shoes, textiles, fruit juice concentrate, lawnmowers, hacksaw blades, steel swimming pools, cutting boards, artificial leather, carpets, plastics, aluminum toys, bowling pins, aluminum truck bodies, valves, plastic covered electric wire, medical oxygen, paper matches, commercial refrigerators, plows, impregnated paper cartons, paint pigments, fireproof clay, electric typewriters and business machines, hydraulic equipment, pearl buttons, comic books, printed forms.

This diversity, Swartzmiller points out, is good insurance against the area ever becoming "absolutely poor."

Postmasters' Group Has Annual Picnic

The annual picnic of the Ulster County Postmasters' Association was held Sunday at the American Legion Hall, Port Ewen. Postmaster Robert Henry and Mrs. Henry arranged the tables on the spacious lawn overlooking the Hudson River and served steak dinners to the guests.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Stanton, Elm Bush; Mrs. Leola Feldman, Badyville; Mrs. C. House Schoonmaker and Mrs. Betty Jahn, Ulster Park; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McLean, Wailkill; Mr. and Mrs. James D.

Mannino's Relief Pitching Enables Colonials to Shade Bridgeport, 9-8

Rookie Hurls Shutout Ball For Six Frames

Thomaier Leads With Three Hits

A superb relief pitching stint by Carmine Mannino stood out like a rose in a pile of sawdust as the Colonials staged an uphill battle to nose out the Bridgeport Bees, 9 to 8.

After starter Bill McKever had been bumped for seven hits in two full innings, Mannino, just a journeyman performer to date, came on to stop the Connecticut powerhouse with four scattered safeties the rest of the way. He struck out seven and was never in trouble.

The Colonials knocked starter Bob Krondracki out of the box in the second, tied the score at the expense of reliever Chris Haughey in the fourth and pushed across the winning tally in the sixth.

Bees Hit Two Homers

Danny Perlmutter's Texas League single and Ralph Matzer's double into the right center-field alley produced the winning run.

Bridgeport inserted a couple of home runs, both well hit smashes by Biddle and pitched Krondracki. After a bad error by Eddie McNamara with two out in the first, the Bees counted four times, with Biddle's powerful poke over the left field barrier with two on being the payoff wallops.

After spotting the visitors a 6-2 margin, the Colonials tied it 6-6 in the second when Ernie Burke, the new third sacker via the Poughkeepsie Chiefs, got a scratch hit to second, Manager Emil Gall walked and McKever tapped to the box. Allan Thomaier's single to right center chased two runs across and a pair of walks by Krondracki and Haughey with the bases loaded accounted for another pair.

Spots Two Home

Joe Spota's smash that traveled like a 54-ton slug into right field scored McNamara and Perlmutter with the tying runs in the eighth. Mac was hit by a pitched ball, Perlmutter walked and both advanced on a wild pitch.

Mannino closed the gates of mercy after the second frame and got progressively stronger. He had good control and a fast ball.

Thomaier paced Kingston's 10-hit attack with a trio of singles, while McNamara and Perlmutter had two each. George Handy, Bobby Sherwood, Biddle and Neagle blasted two hits apiece for the Bees.

Bobby Sherwood, center fielder and business manager of the Bridgeport club, injured his leg sliding into second base in the fifth inning and was taken to the Benedict Hospital for X-rays. Jimmy Fox, former major league home run star, was not with the club, having resigned his manager's job yesterday.

Francisco Sastre or Red Tellefson will go against the Bees tonight, with Max Patkin as the added attraction.

Shotton Defends Bums On 'Choking' Charges

Brooklyn, Aug. 24 (AP)—Do the Brooklyn Dodgers choke up under pressure?

During the past several days, this touchy subject has been vigorously debated by those close to the club.

Manager Burt Shotton shouts an emphatic "No." Several of the baseball writers traveling with the club believe otherwise.

"The tree that grows in Brooklyn is an apple tree," wrote a regular writer with the Dodgers after they had dropped three in a row in Boston. "If grows apples deep in the throats of Brooklyn players."

"There's no doubt the Dodgers are jittery and nervous now that the pressure is on," another scribe said. "You can see it in their every action. They wilt before the better clubs—and usually in the last couple of innings."

"Just look," he added. "They've lost 11 out of 18 to the Cardinals, and nine out of 15 to the Braves. They've won only two of the last 11 from St. Louis, the team they must beat for the flag."

Shotton tensed.

An incensed Shotton vehemently denied the "choking" charges today.

"Who ever says this club of mine quits is lying in his teeth," the usually mild-mannered Brooklyn plot rasped. "When anybody calls my boys quitters, he is calling me one, too. When the time comes that I give up a game, I'll really quit—the game for good."

"If the stupid charges were true," he went on, "then how come we won last night's game. (The Braves beat the Cards 4-3 in the arc-light struggle after dropping the afternoon clash 5-3 for their fourth straight setback.)"

"That was a game we had to win," Shotton said. "Well what happened? Did we choke up? We won it the hard way, too—fighting an uphill battle all the way."

The Cards, got off to an early 2-0 lead and did not fall behind until the eighth inning when Roy Campanella and Duke Snider put doubles back to back to produce the run that broke a 3-3 tie.

"Sure, we've played badly and lost a couple of games we maybe could have won," Shotton explained. "But here's why. A half dozen of my boys are playing on nerve alone. Gil Hodges had a cold so bad he could hardly breathe. Pee Wee Reese was so sick the other night he vomited on the field."

"Jackie Robinson is playing on a bad left heel. He should be rested, but we need his big bat. Gene Heimschik has a bad right leg and Bruce Edwards had a bruised hand. That's all that's wrong with this ball club."

Contrary to some opinions, this ball club has plenty of guts. Otherwise it wouldn't be where it is today. Why all the crying? We are only two games out of first place.

"And I repeat again what I've said all season. We're going to win the pennant."

Motormen Claim Swarthout Broke Pitching Rules

Game Under Protest From Fourth Inning

The protest season is still on in full swing in the City Baseball League. It sneaked into the Shaughnessy playoffs yesterday when Manager Pink McElrath of Wiltwycks Motors finished the game with Cheez Emile under protest after the fourth inning.

McElrath claimed that pitcher Bud Swarthout, a southpaw veteran, was violating pitching rules by not staying in contact with the pitching rubber on his delivery. The discussion preceding the official lodging of the protest was a lively one and big rhubarb was narrowly averted.

Cheezies Win 6-4

For the sake of the records, Cheez Emile won the ball game, 6 to 4, and it appears likely to stand that way. The fact that three umpires worked the contest insures a strong case for the arbiters.

Cheez Emile came from behind to win after the Motormen had assaulted Lefty Joe Jordan with three runs in the first inning. Jordan bowed out for a successful pinch hitter in the fourth and Bill Bush's pinch double behind an error and Sagendorf's single knotted the score at 3-3 in the fourth. The fifth inning saw a couple of walks, a hit batsman, Sagendorf's single and a fielder's choice converted into three runs.

Lay and Gheer hit successive singles after Murray was safe on an error to fashion Wiltwycks' final marker in the sixth. Jones Dohy and Morgan's Rest are scheduled for the second game of their series at 8 p. m. today. Hokie Tomson and Bill Windburn are the pitching choices.

For the Steenth Time Indians "Not Sold"

Cleveland, Aug. 24 (AP)—Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, early today denied another report that the world champions had been sold.

"Oh my gosh," Veeck exclaimed.

"It's not true."

The report of the sale, which appeared in the Chicago Sun Times, said the Tribe had been sold to a group headed by Tribe Vice-President Frank Greenberg for $2,000,000—substantially below the figure Veeck said he would accept if the Indians are sold.

"This story doesn't come from the usual unimpeachable source," the Sun Times reported. "It comes from three men close to the Indians. Veeck has completed the deal with Greenberg and his associates."

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sportswriter
Like the tree, pennant talk is blooming in Brooklyn once again. Preacher Roe, slim 31-year-old lefthander of the Dodgers, is responsible for the fanning of the Dodger pennant flames.

The Dodger outlook was gloomy until Roe, working with only two days' rest, beat the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, at Ebbets Field last night in the second half of a day-night doubleheader.

Stan Musial and associates took the afternoon game, 5-3, to move three games ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers losing streak to four games and bring the underdog to the door.

Roe, who usually receives from six to seven days' rest between starts, was thrown into the breach by a desperate Burt Shotton and he came through brilliantly. Failure would have dumped the Dodgers four games off the pace of the snarling Missourians.

Old Preach, a former Red Bird, got off to a rocky start. Musial tagged him for a two-run homer in the first inning. The blow was the Card star's 22nd.

Lefty Howie Pollet blanked the Dodgers over the first three innings, but in the fourth the Dodgers came to life and scored him for two runs.

In the fifth, Carl Furillo doubled home Pee Wee Reese with the run that gave the Dodgers a 3-2 lead.

The Cards quieted the crowd in the sixth, as Enos Slaughter, the other Dodger tormentor, singled home Nippy Jones to tie the score at 3-3.

Roe lightened up and held the Cards hitless the rest of the way, but not so Pollet. The 15-game winner gave up the winning run in the eighth inning with one out, yielding consecutive doubles to Roy Campanella and Duke Snider. The victory was Roe's tenth compared to four defeats.

Musial and Slaughter teamed to bat the Cards to victory in the opener. Musial laced out a homer and a single and Slaughter contributed a triple, double and single to the Cards' eight-hit attack.

Meanwhile, all three pennant contenders in the American League race were defeated. The league-leading New York Yankees were thrashed, 8-4, by the Tigers in a day game at Detroit. The runnerup Boston Red Sox were upset by the seventh place Browns, 5-4, in a night game at St. Louis. The third place Cleveland Indians bowed, 4-2, to the tail-end Washington Senators under the lights in Cleveland.

Lefty Hal Newhouse, with the aid of home runs by Pat Mullin, Vic Wertz and Eddie Lake stopped the Yanks, who still lead the circuit by two and one half games. Jack Graham's 20th home run of the season ruined the Red Sox. Graham connected with one on in the eighth off young Chuck Stobbs to enable the Browns to overcome a 4-2 deficit.

Roe Scarborough cooled off the Indians, yielding only six hits to snip Washington's 11-game losing streak.

The Philadelphia Athletics retained fourth place, one percentage point ahead of Detroit, as Joe Coleman pitched and helped bat the A's to a 4-2 victory over the White Sox in a night game at Chicago.

The Boston Braves protected their one-game third-place margin over the Philadelphia Phillies in the National loop, defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2, while the Reds edged the Cincinnati Reds, 4-3 in 13 innings.

Johnny Sain posted his tenth triumph and the Braves' fourth straight as he checked the Pirates on six outfields.

Richie Ashburn's fly ball enabled Andy Seminick to score from third after the catch with the Phils' payoff run.

In New York, the Chicago Cubs barely outlasted the Giants, 7-5, after Doyle Lade had pitched a two-hit shutout for eight innings with five runs in and the bases loaded in the ninth, reliever Bob Muncrief got Bobby Thomson to hit into a force play for the final out and save Lade's third triumph.

Hitting—Jack Graham, St. Louis Browns, hit his 20th home run with one on for the winning marker as the Browns defeated the Boston Red Sox 5-4.

Pitching—Preacher Roe, Brooklyn Dodgers, working with only two days' rest, set down the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, on eight hits to keep Dodger flag hopes alive.

Get 700-Pound Tuna

Ipswich, Mass., Aug. 24 (AP)—A 700-pound tuna almost too big for their 15-foot outboard motorboat, was landed yesterday by two boys using a borrowed line and 15 cents worth of mackerel bait. The fish, hooked by Peter Tyler, 15, and Ellis Hodgkins, 14, both of Ipswich, was the largest taken this season at Ipswich. An adult fisherman helped them get the whopper ashore.

British Youth Conquers Channel

Dover, England, Aug. 24 (AP)—Philip Mickman, 18, conquered the tricky waters of the English Channel today after two previous unsuccessful tries. The plucky Yorkshire schoolboy, who swam the gruelling distance in 23 hours and 45 minutes, was the first to make it this year.

Mickman swam the last few miles in darkness and drizzling rain. He waded ashore at Kingsdown, seven miles northeast of Dover, at 5:31 a. m. British Summer Time (11:33 p. m. E.S.T., Tuesday), his associates said. Meanwhile, Cuban swimmer Jose Corinas plunged into the water at Cup Girl's New France, at 5:25 a. m. (12:25 a. m. E.S.T.) today for his second channel attempt this month.

After ranching shore at Kingsdown, Mickman boarded the boat that accompanied him on the swim and returned to Dover.

Smiling broadly, the chunky schoolboy walked up the beach at Dover wrapped in a huge blanket. He was hurried to his shorefront hotel by his father, William H. Mickman, and trainer E. H. Temme, who is a two-time channel swimmer.

Woodstock Golfers In Freeman Play

Woodstock, Aug. 24—Norman Foster, Louis Guntier, and Dickie Short, members of the Woodstock Country Club have already sent in their entries for the first annual Freeman golf tournament at Twaitskill Club, Sunday, Aug. 28. Warren Townley, club pro, says other members are interested in the tournament and will undoubtedly send in their entries this week.

There is no entry fee. Any bona fide resident of Ulster county is eligible to compete. According to Charles Tiano, sports editor, "You do not have to host a hole-in-one in order to qualify. Each contestant will hit four balls off a specially constructed tee at Twaitskill. The Freeman furnishes the golf balls."

Play starts at 10 a. m. and the starting times of players will be published in The Kingston Daily Freeman, prior to the day of play. Only registered entries will compete. Early entrants receive preference in the allotment of starting time. Address entries to the Sports Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

Woodstock Recs Draw Many Fans

Woodstock, Aug. 24—The spectators attending the regularly scheduled baseball games at Recreation Center have added and multiplied to such an extent that the committee may soon have to add additional bleachers.

The Recs are slowly but surely building up an outstanding team under the expert coaching of Walter S. Van Wageningen. The townspeople take great pride in their newly-outfitted boys and cheered themselves hoarse Sunday afternoon when the Recs defeated Glasco 4-3.

Things were looking a bit sad for the home team until the ninth inning when the local lads rallied for three runs. Glasco brought two men home in the sixth and gained the extra point when Francello made a homer in the eighth innings.

Valcarlos did his usual good pitching for the Recs. Carling put on a fine exhibition for Glasco. He struck out seven men and walked two. Valcarlos struck out eight and walked five men. Total hits, Glasco 10, Woodstock 8.

Musicales Enjoyed At Les Dardennes

Woodstock, Aug. 24—More than 200 persons, including members of the New York Symphony, Philadelphia, Minneapolis, and Metropolitan Opera orchestras and soloists, heard played for the first time, the stimulating, modern work, "Aria for Violin and Piano," by the local, eminent composer, Alexander Semmler, during the annual musicale at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Dardenne, Wittenberg.

Although Semmler's compositions are frequently heard over national radio networks, so far as is known, this was the first occasion his work was played here. A "Quartet for Strings" now being written is expected to be heard next season. The program presented at Les Dardennes includes Trio in B, Brahms, for Violin, Violoncello and Piano, sympathetically interpreted by Victor H. Dardenne, violinist, Lucien K. LaPorte, cellist, and Julius Burger, pianist, all distinguished musicians. Burger accompanied Dardenne when he played, so beautifully, the Bach Sonata in G for Violin. The Semmler Aria was excellently done by the composer at the piano and Dardenne, violin. Because of illness, Composer Hugo Reubens could not play his original piano composition, "Fantasia."

It was announced at the conclusion of the music by Dardenne that plans were being formulated for a music club of Wittenberg where young people could be taught the art of music appreciation, as well as learning to play various instruments. The children would be encouraged to give informal musicales in Wittenberg.

"We have much talent scattered here and there in these hills," said the well known violinist, "also, many children who do not know about music. Many of us come here for the summer months and we would like to do something for the children, musically."

Apparently, the idea would be limited to the children but would embrace musical afternoons or evenings for adults. Those present Saturday afternoon reacted very favorably to the idea.

Tables were set up on the broad expanse of lawn, high in the hills overlooking Twaitskill Road, following the musicale and some 50 guests enjoyed an outdoor supper.

Goodenough Honored At Striebel Home

Woodstock, Aug. 24—Forrest Goodenough, was honored Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Striebel when the composer's compositions were played for 70 or more guests by a distinguished group of musicians.

Leon Barzin, violin; David Rattner, horn; Cynthia Eddy, cello; Alfio Pignotti, violin; Melvin Riter, viola; and Bruce Currie, clarinet, played three Goodenough compositions.

Goodenough will leave in about a week to take up his duties as instructor at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas.

The guests enjoyed supper following the concert.

Needs Singers

Woodstock, Aug. 24—Beginning Wednesday, Aug. 31, through Tuesday, Sept. 6, the Maverick Summer Theatre will top the season with an ambitious program. Tom Reddy will present Moss Hart's recent Broadway hit, "Lady in the Dark." Usher country singers or dancers who desire to participate in this production are requested to contact Tom Reddy at the Maverick Summer Theatre or phone Woodstock 435-F-5. He requires six young men and six young ladies.

Lucien K. LaPorte, cellist, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Dardenne in Wittenberg. Several members of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., and friends were entered in the Farmers' Field Day at Oak Hill last Sunday afternoon. Preston Perlman took a second prize in the pony class; Richard Shultis on Babe, second in three-gaited saddle horse class; Louise Van Wageningen on her mare Babe, first in the trail class with husband, Virgil, second in that class on Arab. Sheriff Smith Gets Complimentary Letter

A letter of appreciation has been received by Sheriff George C. Smith from the New York State Department of Public Works, Highway Division, Poughkeepsie, thanking him for the assistance given last Sunday by his deputies during the "origin and destination" survey which was made at various key points to secure data on traffic movements.

The letter states that the assignment of uniformed deputies to direct traffic during the survey was appreciated and the men were "extremely cooperative and skilled in the direction of traffic." At various key points travelers were asked to give certain information as to the point of their starting and their destination. From this survey will be determined future traffic needs and highway requirements.

Returns to Tomb

Hollywood, Aug. 24 (AP)—The "Lady in Black" kept her annual rendezvous at the crypt of Rudolph Valentino. Ditta Flame, as has been her custom for years, arrived yesterday at Hollywood Cemetery in her chauffeur-driven car, and placed red roses on the marble slab. There were dozens of other visitors, mostly curious to the crypt. Yesterday was the 23rd anniversary of the death of the famous silent screen lover.

Sell 'Dream House'

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—A student war veteran and his wife today were rid of the $35,000 "dream house" that turned into a nightmare for them. Alfred and Edna Birnbaum sold the house—on display in Manhattan—for a 50-cent value ticket. They sold it for $1,500 to Herbert Brunsch, a lawyer, who plans to move it to Port Washington on Long Island. Brunsch agreed to pay the rentals, lot owner the overdue rentals.

THESE ARE PELICANS PLUS—Detectives Veri Jefferies, left, and Clarence Rasmussen, of Milwaukee, examine strange vials found in three porcelain pelicans owned by Mrs. Harry Komoll of Milwaukee. The pelicans (enlarged in inset at right) were marked "Made in Japan." When Mrs. Komoll's daughter broke one of the birds, a vial containing a reddish liquid was found inside. The other two pelicans were found to contain similar vials. The birds and their contents were sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington, on the theory that they might contain germs sent here by the Japs during the war to spread disease.
